Measurements

Spots to Locate and Measure

- Area of impact, maximum engagement and final resting place of vehicles
- Body of dead or injured person-locate the middle
- Gouges and tire marks less than a foot long-locate center
- Resting place of vehicles-locate two undamaged corners of vehicles on same side
- Each straight skid mark at each end
- Damage to property other than vehicles involved

_____ traffic crash scene, noting _____ of vehicles and important details

Two methods of measurement at a crash scene:

- Coordinate method
- Triangulation method

Coordinate method works best when:

- There are _____ road edges.
- Most points can be located within _____ ft. of the roadway.
- Crash scene is located in an _____ setting.
- 90% of all measurements are _____

Coordinate method procedure:

- Establish a _____ line to indicate movement between point of impact to final resting place
- Take measurement of an evidentiary item from a _____ point to a specific point being measured at _____ angle.

Triangulation method works best when:

- There is no clear _____ line available.
- Roadway edges are _____.
- Points to be located are more than _____ ft. from the reference line.
- Points are located where no _____ reference line exists. SL20

Chicago Police Department Basic Recruit Training
Traffic Crash Investigation Recruit Participants' Guide

Triangulation method – procedure.

- Establish two _____ points.
- Measure from two _____ points to each spot to be located.
- Measurements do not have to be at _____ angle to each other.

Types of reference points:

- Tangible – fixed objects
- Intangible – placed on the scene by the officer

Give 3 examples of tangible objects:

Tangible means “ _____”, (IE. a utility line or water line)

Other Examples are:

OEMC dispatches you (Beat 2611) to a traffic crash at Adams (200 S) & Loomis St (1400 W). Upon arrival you observe the Chevy Caprice off the roadway and crashed into the fence to the North of Adams with front end damage. The fence was loosened from the ground upon impact. Upon speaking to the driver of the vehicle, he tells you that while he was traveling W/B on Adams in the right lane, the driver in another car traveling alongside of him in the left lane was flashing gang signs at him. As he tried to get away from the vehicle, the vehicle cut into his lane, causing him to swerve. He lost control and crashed into the fence at Skinner Park, Chicago Park District. The other vehicle continued traveling W/B on Adams.
